Are People Who Resort
to Double Taxation

While we endorse Gov. Dale Bumpers' proposed 15-million-dollar increase in the state income tax we oppose the lesser part of the 26-million total tax package—an expansion of the sales tax base which will raise the cost of living just as certainly as an increase in the sales tax rate would.

What the governor is proposing is to wipe out certain exemptions from sales or use tax. That is: He would tax the sale of used automobiles and put cigarettes under sales tax.

But what he proposes isn't the elimination of exemptions in the true sense—but double taxation. That is, you pay sales tax on a new car, and the proposed law would make you pay additional tax every time the same car was resold as a "used" vehicle. If the car were sold three times the total sales tax would be nearer 6 per cent than the stated 3 per cent rate.

And the same goes for cigarettes. Cigarettes pay a stiff tax when purchased—bringing cigarettes under the sales tax simply means double-taxation, at increased cost to the consumer.

In the case of the used-car tax the proposition means that we are converting what was originally a straight sales tax into a transaction tax, multiplying the stated rate of taxation enormously.

Back in 1933 when I was personally researching the history of world-wide sales taxes, having editorialized in behalf of a sales tax for Arkansas (enacted a year later), I gave the state due warning on what would happen if the new tax were abused. I reported that in my research I discovered the first country to enact a sales tax was Spain. But the government while starting off at a moderate tax rate began widening the base to include labor and other services so that what started as a simple sales tax became a costly and unfair transaction tax.

I discovered that the tax on the most widely sold items in Spain sometimes amounted to 60 per cent of the purchase price—the people finally revolted and the tax was killed.

Arkansas is making me a true prophet.

We started off in 1934 with a 2 per cent sales tax, with medicine, food, and clothing exempt.

In 1941 all these exemptions were struck out.

In 1957 the rate was increased to 3 per cent across the board. Now in the year 1971 we are flirting with the notion of converting a simple sales tax into a ruinous transaction tax.

If we do so then the old Spanish cycle will be completed by the total repeal of the sales tax by an angry Arkansas electorate.

The Past having proven me true I'll stand on the prophecy I make now in 1971.

Underground Newspaper Brings Arrest

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Joe Saunders, 22, of Fayetteville was arrested Monday after he sold copies of an underground newspaper on the University of Arkansas campus.

William F. Denman, dean of student affairs, said Saunders was arrested on a warrant charging him with refusing to leave university property after being requested to do so by administrative officials.

Saunders' bond was set at $50. He is not a student at the university.

University officials had told students and nonstudents who sold issues of the Ozark Mountain Times Collective published in January that they would be arrested if they continued to sell the newspaper on campus. Officials said that selling the papers violated a university regulation on solicitation.

The Ozark Mountain Times calls itself a "radical revolutionary" paper.

Bumpers Program Hits Difficulties

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Some of Gov. Dale Bumpers' tax proposals encountered difficulties larger than had been expected Monday.

These actions developed: —The House Revenue and Taxation Committee recommended against passage of the administration's bill to repeal exemptions to the use tax, but likely will be asked to reconsider the action.

—Heavy opposition turned up at a public hearing on an administration bill to extend the sales tax to purchases of second-hand goods, but that provision probably will be separated from the evidently non-controversial extension to cigarettes.

Normally, a "do not pass" recommendation kills a bill in the House, but Rep. B. D. "Doug" Brandon of Little Rock said the use tax repealer bill should be sent back to the committee.

Some confusion existed when the committee, by a 9-7 vote, recommended against passage of the measure, he said. Brandon added that the governor's tax bills should not be killed without full House consideration.

Bumpers had proposed in a single bill the extension of the sales tax to sales of cigarettes and second-hand goods, but because of opposition to the second-hand goods provision, the bill likely will be broken into two separate proposals.

Brad Jenson, legislative aide to the governor, told Sen. Robert Harvey of Swifton late Monday that separate proposals would be acceptable to the administration.

No one showed up at the hearing to argue against extending the sales tax to cigarettes.

The administration estimates the cigarette provision would bring an additional $2.5 million in state revenue and the used-goods provision would produce about $3 million annually.

Actor, Wife Have Parted

LONDON (AP) — Sean Connery, who played the title role in most of the James Bond movies, says he and his actress-wife Diane Cilento have parted.

"This time it is the end," he told newsmen Monday. There had been previous separations.

Miss Cilento has left their home in the Putney area of London to live in Wimbledon. Connery gave no reason for the breakup of the eight-year-old marriage.

Bad Check Artists Are the Hardest of All Criminals to Reform

Bill to Repeal Fair Trade Liquor Law Now Goes to Governor

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Senate, by 28-6 vote, approved Gov. Dale Bumpers' bill to repeal the "fair trade" liquor law, completing legislative action on the proposal Monday.

The House had approved the measure Jan. 18 by an 85-13 vote.

The law, adopted in 1949, established a markup of at least 13 per cent on liquor at the wholesale level and 30 per cent at the retail level.

The markup on wine is 18 per

Prime Rate Again Dropped by Big Banks

NEW YORK (AP) — Major New York banks and some others around the country reduced their prime lending rate today to 5 1/2 per cent from 6 per cent.

It was the fourth one-quarter percentage point cut this year. The move was initiated by Bankers Trust Co. of New York. Other New York banks which quickly followed included Chase Manhattan, First National City, Chemical, Irving Trust and Manufacturers Hanover.

Also going along were First National Bank of Chicago, First Pennsylvania Banking & Trust Co. of Philadelphia, First National Bank of Boston, National Bank of Detroit, First National Bank of Dallas, and First National Bank of St. Louis.

The stock market advanced in heavy trading with the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial issues up 2.74 points to 891.37 at 11:30 a.m. Brokers and investors had expected a further lowering of interest rates.

The cut in the prime rate—the interest banks charge to their biggest and most creditworthy customers—came after the Federal Reserve Board's approval Friday of a reduction to 4 1/2 per cent from 5 per cent in the discount rate of 11 of the 12 district reserve banks.

The discount rate is the rate of interest the Federal Reserve System charges its member commercial banks for loans. Only the New York Federal Reserve Bank did not go along with the discount rate reduction.

In announcing the prime rate cut, Bankers Trust said in a statement: "This adjustment of rates reflects current money market conditions and is consistent with our policy to establish a more flexible rate structure."

This was essentially the same reason cited by the Federal Reserve Board in paring the discount rate.

A Warning Trend for Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A warning trend is expected to continue in Arkansas through Wednesday.

Highs Monday ranged from 47 at Jonesboro to 64 at Texarkana and slightly warmer readings were expected today. The highs Wednesday are forecast in the mid 60s to mid 70s.

No precipitation is forecast through Wednesday.

Skies across most of the state were cloudy this morning but partly cloudy conditions were expected by the afternoon.

Lows tonight should be in the low 40s to low 50s. Overnight lows include Fayetteville 36, Harrison 34, Jonesboro 29, Pine Bluff 46, Texarkana 51, El Dorado 50, Memphis 32, Little Rock 37 and Fort Smith 41.

cent at wholesale and 50 per cent at retail under the law.

The administration's bill would also prohibit advertising of liquor prices, bar sales by all future licenses in grocery or drug stores and provide licensing regulations designed to prevent chain liquor stores from moving into the state.

The Senate rejected three proposed amendments before approving the bill.

The House approved on a 66-26 vote a bill by Rep. Jim Linder of West Helena to repeal the present system of buying vehicle licenses at staggered periods.

The staggered system, adopted in 1967, would be replaced by a system requiring automobile license purchases from Jan. 1 to Feb. 15 and truck license purchases in July.

Steelworkers United Front Is Broken

By MICHAEL J. REILLY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Breaking a united bargaining front, National Can Co. has signed a contract with the United Steelworkers of America, leaving three other canmakers with a nationwide strike.

Steelworkers President I.W. Abel called the new three-year agreement "an excellent settlement... responsive to the needs of membership."

The agreement is the first signed by the union since it moved into major negotiations on behalf of 650,000 workers in the steel, aluminum, copper and can industries.

National, with about 4,000 workers, had been aligned in negotiations with American Can Co., Consolidated Can Co. and Crown, Cork and Seal Co. The three latter companies said 40,000 of their workers walked off at the 12:01 a.m. Monday strike deadline.

The Monday announcement disclosed negotiations actually broke off early Sunday. A statement from the three struck companies said National's signing came as "a complete surprise" and was "on a basis very substantially exceeding the industry offer, as well as other recent industrial wage settlements."

Terms of the Steelworkers' agreement gave the lowest-scale workers a $1-an-hour raise over the contract's three years, with a cost-of-living clause allotting one-cent-an-hour hikes for each four-tenths of 1 per cent boost in the Consumer Price Index, computed quarterly. A yearly cost-of-living guarantee of 1 1/2 per cent and boosts of pension, medicare and medical program payments added to the final package.

Man Suffers Heart Attack and Dies

Grady Mayes, about 55, itinerant worker, died Tuesday. He suffered a heart attack in the Missouri Pacific yards not far from the depot and died shortly after he was taken to a local hospital.

Hempstead Coroner J. T. Honeycutt said death was due to a heart attack. He said the man had worked in several local plants from time to time and an effort is being made to contact survivors. Apparently he has no survivors in this area, Honeycutt said.

The body is at Herndon Funeral Home.

White House Claims Supply Route Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The South Vietnamese invasion of Laos has succeeded in cutting about half of the supply routes in the Ho Chi Minh trail used by the North Vietnamese, a top White House official says.

The official made public the information after returning to Washington from a four-day holiday weekend with President Nixon in Florida.

He said the Laotian operation is proceeding slowly because the South Vietnamese are building bases to prevent the enemy from re-establishing sanctuaries.

The Ho Chi Minh trail has been North Vietnam's major means of supplying its troops in South Vietnam especially since the allied invasion wiped out sanctuaries in Cambodia, defense officials have said.

Destruction of the trail would leave North Vietnam with no major means of moving supplies to its troops, they contend.

The official said the White House does not believe Communist troops will attempt to bring supplies across the demilitarized zone separating North and South Vietnam because such a move would violate the understanding which led to the U.S. bombing halt of the North.

He also said the White House does not believe Communist China will support North Vietnamese operations in Laos unless allied troops push into North Vietnam.

Any further North Vietnamese push into northern Laos is viewed as unlikely, the official said, because the Communists do not need that area.

Heart Sunday Scheduled February 21

The month-long 1971 Heart Fund Campaign will reach its high point on the Heart Sunday weekend, February 21, when Heart Sunday volunteers commence a canvass of residences in Hempstead County, it was announced today by Mrs. George Young, 1971 Chairman of the Heart Fund Campaign in Hempstead County.

It is anticipated that all residential visits will be completed and that kits will be turned in not later than February 28.

The residential canvass will augment the total already collected in the February campaign, which is being conducted to support and expand research, education and community service programs of the Arkansas Heart Association.

Each Heart volunteer will call at the homes of neighbors, distributing helpful information about the warning signs of heart attack and receiving contributions for the Heart Fund.

Emphasizing the uniqueness of the Heart Cause, Mrs. Young pointed out that Heart Fund contributions go to fight a vast complex of diseases, among them heart attack, stroke, hardening of the arteries, high blood pressure, rheumatic fever

Laos Success May Mean Trouble to Democrat Presidential Hopefuls

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

WASHINGTON (AP) — High White House officials, confident of South Vietnamese success in Laos, say virtually every Democratic presidential hopeful is out on a limb that will break when President Nixon announces more U.S. troop withdrawals in April.

They note Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine and just about everyone mentioned for the nomination except Sens. Henry M. Jackson of Washington and Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts took an early, outspoken stand against the move into Laos.

The officials still insist the main purpose of the invasion is military. But they now expect to reap important political dividends from it at home.

Man Kidnaps Five Deputies, Kills Three

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A widespread alarm was out today for a 33-year-old ex convict accused of fatally shooting three of five kidnapped deputy sheriffs. One of the surviving deputies was wounded.

The deputies, seized while investigating a burglary, were taken to a river bottom where one of their captors opened fire. Issuing a description of the fugitive, Sheriff Clarence Jones of Dallas County said, "It would be an understatement to say we want him bad."

Charged with murder, he was identified as Rene Adolpho Guzman. Authorities said he had a police record for burglary and assault.

Jones described the triple slaying Monday night as "needless killing" and "an execution."

Four other men were being questioned, but Jones said, "The trigger man is the one we want."

Shot to death in a fusillade of revolver fire in the Trinity River bottoms were Dallas County deputies Dennis Reese, 30, and Sam Infante, 32, and Ellis County Deputy A. J. Robertson, 59.

22 Americans Killed, 5 Copters Lost

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. command today announced the loss of five aircraft in South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia, and an increase in small-unit fighting in South Vietnam. The toll was 22 Americans killed, 22 wounded and one missing, the Command said.

U.S. military officials also warned there may be more American air strikes against surface-to-air missile—SAM—sites inside North Vietnam to protect B52 bombers flying raids against the Ho Chi Minh trail just inside Laos. The warning came after attacks Sunday and Monday on SAM sites.

Further south along the trail through the Laotian panhandle, there were indications that the 11,000 South Vietnamese troops trying to cut the network on the ground were bogging down due to stiffening enemy resistance, heavy antiaircraft fire and poor weather limiting U.S. air support.

South Vietnamese headquarters in Saigon said the most advanced column of troops had pushed about 14 miles westward into Laos at last report Monday after eight days. But Lt. Gen. Hoang Xuan Lam, commander of the operation, said some reconnaissance troops were at Chipone, a key North Vietnamese transshipment point 25 miles west of the border.

The U.S. aircraft losses announced today included: —A big CH47 Chinook helicopter and an F4 Phantom fighter-bomber in the Laotian panhandle. The helicopter was shot down with five crewmen killed and a sixth missing. It was supporting the South Vietnamese troops. The Phantom, attacking the enemy supply trail, crashed due to unknown causes, and the two crewmen were recovered in good condition.

—An Army UH1 helicopter shot down in northeastern Cambodia, with one crewman wounded.

—Two other helicopters crashed in South Vietnam with seven Americans killed. The U.S. Command said 10 other Americans were killed and 21 were wounded in half a dozen enemy attacks, three of them against units of the 9,000-man U.S. force in the northwest corner of South Vietnam acting as a blocking force for the South Vietnamese in Laos.

The U.S. Command said American helicopters have flown 5,600 missions into Laos in the past eight days. These missions include gunship attacks, resupply, medical evacuation, command and control and troop lifts.

PX Probe in Japan Blocked by State Dept.

By LAWRENCE L. KNUITSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A senator investigating alleged corruption in military recreational funds says the State Department blocked U.S. tax investigations in Japan for more than three years during the troop buildup in Vietnam.

Sen. Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., a member of the investigations subcommittee conducting the probe, said the ban prevented Internal Revenue Service agents from studying finances of Americans dealing with U.S. service clubs in Vietnam.

The only exceptions were by special orders, Gurney said. The ban was imposed July 22, 1966, and lifted Oct. 8, 1969.

Gurney said the IRS now has three agents permanently stationed in South Vietnam investigating several hundred tax cases.

"The fallacy in this senseless arrangement was that an unscrupulous vendor, or vendor's agent, could be in Vietnam, supplying our military forces through the clubs and post exchanges, engaging in kickbacks, bribes, payoffs and other forms of tax evasion," Gurney said.

For all practical purposes, he said, the IRS was forbidden to enter the country and attempt to collect taxes or gather evidence for possible prosecution.

Gurney said the subcommittee has new evidence of corruption in placement of slot machines in U.S. military clubs in Vietnam. His report was written just before the Army announced it is withdrawing the 2,700 slot machines because they are not practical in a war zone.

The investigation is centering on charges kickbacks have been used by civilian vendors in dealing with service facilities operated for U.S. troops around the world.

Gurney said there are indications bribes and favors were offered by salesmen to influence the purchase of beer and liquor for military use in Southeast Asia.

The Defense Department says it is investigating alleged irregularities in one such fund on Guam. Senate sources say the probe may be used in subcommittee hearings to illustrate a pattern of corruption in dealings between civilian vendors and service clubs.

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., plans to open hearings Wednesday into the handling of nonappropriated military funds generated at the clubs, post exchanges, bowling alleys, slot machines and movie theaters. The funds totaled $6 billion last year.

Mrs. WR Denies Reported Separation

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Mrs. Winthrop Rockefeller said Monday that there was no factual basis for a published report that she plans to announce at a news conference that she and her husband are separating.

A Memphis newspaper advised Mrs. Rockefeller that Oleg Cassini, a columnist, had written that such a news conference was imminent.

"There is no basis in fact for the report of such a press conference," Mrs. Rockefeller said in a statement issued through Rockefeller's public relations office. "Mutually on our minds at this time is the upcoming marriage of Winthrop Paul."

Winthrop Paul, 22, Rockefeller's son by his first marriage, is to be married next spring to Deborah Cluett Sage of New York. No date has been set.

Calley Trail in Mi Lai Case Resumes

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — The My Lai trial of Lt. William L. Calley Jr. resumes today where it left off four weeks ago with arguments over whether psychiatric testimony should be heard by the six-officer jury.

The government filed a motion that none of the defense's psychiatric testimony be admitted on grounds that it can add nothing to the case.

Judge Reid Kennedy scheduled a hearing on the motion, in the absence of the jury, as the first order of business.

The 27-year-old Calley, a platoon leader in the March 16, 1968 raid on the Vietnamese village of My Lai, is charged with murder of 102 Vietnamese men, women and children.

He is expected to take the stand in his own defense sometime this week.

Calley's trial was recessed Jan. 18 after a psychiatrist testified Calley was "like an automaton, a robot" who could not disobey an order to kill everyone in the village. The order, witnesses testified since the trial, started Nov. 12, came from Capt. Ernest Medina, the company commander.

The prosecution demanded and received, permission to have Calley examined by Army psychiatrists, to be ready with rebuttal to the defense claims. Calley spent a week at Walter Reed Army Hospital for the examination.

Share Plan Called Cop-out by Labor

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — An AFL-CIO official said today President Nixon's proposal to share federal income with the states was a political "cop-out" which would threaten to starve some of the nation's educational programs for funds.

"It's a real cop-out," Walter Davis, AFL-CIO education director, said of Nixon's legislative plan to funnel some $5 billion a year back to states and cities.

Davis said it could lead to loss of funds to some educational programs that now get their money through specifically earmarked federal aid.

"Politically, Nixon's revenue sharing plan would give a pot of money for local politicians to struggle over as to whether it goes to a school lunch program, vocational education or something else," Davis said in an interview.

"What Nixon is saying to them is, 'I don't want to be involved in political struggles locally; you guys take the money and fight it out among yourselves,'" he added.

The AFL-CIO Executive Council took up educational matters today after Monday's opening criticism of Nixon's revenue sharing proposal and his plan to consolidate the Labor Department with other agencies.

"Many health, education, welfare, housing manpower and anti-poverty programs already approved by Congress have never received full funding," said the AFL-CIO's chief congressional lobbyist, Andrew J. Biemiller.

George Meany, 76-year-old president of the 13.6-million-member labor federation, called Nixon's revenue sharing proposal a "gimmick."

Davis said the plan also could revive the church-state controversy over government aid to religious schools which can now get certain federal aid.

Informed sources said Nixon had sent Secretary of Labor J. D. Hodgson last week to try to persuade the labor leaders to go along with the revenue sharing proposal and the President's governmental reorganization plan that would consolidate the Labor Department with other federal agencies.

"I think he could have given us the same thoughts in a very short telephone conversation," Meany said of Hodgson's visit.

Asked how Hodgson was doing as Nixon's labor secretary, Meany said, "I think he's trying. He's a very nice gentleman but up to now, I'm a little disappointed."

AF Colonel Found Guilty on Dope Count

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — A U.S. Air Force colonel with 28 years service who commanded an air-lift squadron was found guilty today of seven marijuana charges. He was sentenced to three years' imprisonment and a fine of $15,000 by a general court-martial of seven colonels and a brigadier general.

Col. Gerald V. Kehrl was acquitted on one count, that he asked a sergeant to obtain marijuana for him last Sept. 15. He was convicted of asking the same sergeant and other enlisted men in his squadron to procure marijuana for him on other dates, of smoking and possessing marijuana and of giving it to men in his unit.

By not dismissing him from the Air Force, the court left Kehrl eligible for pension upon retirement. His length of service makes him eligible to retire now.

The verdict and sentence are subject to automatic review by Gen. Lucius D. Clay Jr., commander of the 7th Air Force, and the Court of Military Review in Washington. Clay ordered the court-martial, and Kehrl's lawyer indicated he would ask the general to delay imprisonment while the review is pending.

The highest-ranking officer court-martialed in Vietnam, Kehrl, 46, was commander of the squadron at the time of the offenses. He could have received 35 years in prison and been dismissed from the service with loss of pay and allowances.

Kehrl showed no emotion as the verdict and later the sentence was read to him in the trial room at Tan Son Nhut air base.

Although he did not testify during the trial, Kehrl took the stand after the verdict was read and asked the board to consider his record in setting his penalty.

Reading calmly and steadily from notes, Kehrl reviewed his school life in Portland, Ore., and his military career.

His family now lives at Willmar, Minn.

During the five-day trial, five sergeants and an airman who served under Kehrl testified that they had smoked marijuana with him in his quarters or in a staff car en route to a Saigon restaurant.

An Army intelligence officer, 1st Lt. Peter C. Jackson, 27, of Chicago, told the court that Kehrl once told him he thought marijuana was a "good thing" because it helped him close the generation gap with his men.

"Smoking grass won't hurt you, but cigarettes will," Jackson said the heavy-set colonel told him.

Pleads Innocent to Murder

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — DeWard E. Liles, 26, of Lonoke pleaded innocent Monday to three counts of first-degree murder.

He was charged with the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Eulas James and their daughter, Mrs. Barbara Ann Liles, at the James' home in Jacksonville last Jan. 15.

Mrs. Liles was Liles' former wife.

Arkla Insists Pipeline Is Necessary

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — An official of Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. says that natural gas reserves for Arkla's domestic customers will be exhausted within eight years unless the way is cleared for construction of its proposed pipeline into the Anadarko Basin.

D. W. Weir of Shreveport, executive vice president of Arkla, made the statement Monday before the state Public Service Commission.

The PSC is considering withdrawing its approval of Arkla's longterm contracts with about 60 industrial customers. Arkla supports the action, saying it needs the additional revenue to finance the Anadarko project.

The proposed action is being opposed by many of Arkla's biggest industrial customers.

The hearings opened Jan. 6 and 7 with testimony from several Arkla officials. Attorneys for the industrial gas customers began cross-examining the witnesses Monday, but Weir was the only witness called.

While on the stand, Weir said the eight-year limit on existing gas reserves would apply even if the gas supply to large industrial users was curtailed.

Attorneys for the industrial users argued that the contracts were made in good faith by both parties and should be honored. Weir said the contracts were no longer in the public interest.

Tom Burton of Houston, attorney for Continental Oil Co., asked Weir if he believed in 1964, when the contract with Continental was signed, that the agreement was in the public interest.

Weir said he had. He said that at the time Arkla had been "very confident that we could continue to supply an unlimited supply of gas, and that was a conclusion based on past history."

Became More Tired Than Hungry

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Four dozen people jammed into an office for a 54-hour fast and test of what they think the world will be like in the year 2000.

Only 36 of them made it all the way. The other 12 fled to get food or to escape the other hazards simulating overpopulation and pollution.

"You really don't get hungry you just get real tired," said 12-year-old Sam Biegelsen, one of those who stuck it out from last Friday noon to Sunday night.

Rosie Embry, a switchboard operator in her early 20s, couldn't agree less. "I am shaking all over with hunger," she declared as she emerged from the scene of the experiment.

The participants, ranging in age from 12 to their mid-30s, went into four rooms of a downtown office building.

There was no food, no privacy, only 20 square feet of living space per person, constant noise and light and one lavatory for the entire group.

Rosie's husband Ron, a cook, and one of the "survivors" said it was hoped the simulation would "make people aware of

HELEN HELP US!

MOTHER, I'D RATHER DO IT MYSELF

Dear Helen:

I know I'm not the only one who has this problem, so if I change the details a little, maybe my new mother-in-law will read it and get the hint, while not suspecting that I wrote it.

She is a good person. Too good. She doesn't realize that I'd like to muddle through without all that help. The way things are going, she'll probably somehow even have my baby for me.

Ollie and I both work. When we get home, there's dinner waiting to be served and the house spotless. His Mom has popped over (in her "spare time") because "she knows how tired we'll be."

She finds my mending and "surprises me" by doing it. We bought our Christmas tree thinking we'd have fun decorating it together. You guessed it: She'd made a beautiful creation out of the tree we wanted to fix "homey" with popcorn and cranberry chains. While we were at work, she used her key as usual.

If we invite her and Dad for dinner, she brings enough food to last a week.

This gives you a small idea. Ollie and I are grateful, but... without hurting her feelings, what do you do with a "do-for" mother when you'd rather do it yourself? —BIG KIDS NOW the ecological disaster facing the world."

Charles Aylworth, a graduate psychology student and one of the organizers of the experiment said:

"We've found people can adapt to stressful conditions. We will be able to keep living—miserably."

Aylworth, during a debriefing session just before the end of the test, said: "I firmly believe we have five, not more than 10 years, before we see irreversible changes in the environment. If we don't do something in this time to stop it we might as well pack up and forget it."

Mrs. Gwynne Harpring, a 30-year-old mother of two, was one of the dropouts. During the first night she said: "I don't know if I'll make it. I've never gone this long without food. But the noise and the lack of privacy..."

Ten hours later she had succumbed to hunger pangs and the other irritations.

BARBS

By PHIL PASTORET

What did the cherry pie and cherry candy people ever do before they invented Washington's Birthday to push their products?

Before you get envious of the boss, consider: he has you working for him.

Keep a clean desk at all times, and they'll wonder what you do to earn your keep.

Dear BKN:

The best way to reform an overdoing mother is via her husband. Ollie and his father should have a little man-to-man talk.

If this doesn't work, how about telling her you want to become as efficient as she is, which means being free to learn from your own mistakes.

And if all diplomacy fails, then try, "Please, Mom, let us grow up!" —or a move to the far side of the city. —H.

Dear Helen:

I'm 19, and have been dating this fellow for ten months. He insists that I go only with him. Even if I'm out with my girl friends, he sulks.

He says if I'm not a virgin, he wouldn't marry me, and if I have lied about it, the wedding is off. We can't marry for another two years. I love him, but I keep thinking: For the rest of my life, no other boy friends... when he is sometimes so dull.

He's really considerate — if he gets his own way. And he has a great future. I keep telling myself I could never do as well again. Is this what they call the long-engagement blues? —NEEDS ADVICE

Dear N.A.:

This is more likely the "I've got the wrong man" jitters. If you choose a dull, rigid, sulky guy because he has a "a great future," you'll no doubt settle for some unpleasant presents. —H.

Dear Helen:

"You're fair, so how about equal time? And no argument! This is an answer from one who really knows to one who thinks he knows all about pot:

What is smoking weed? It's sitting around with friends without drooling and saying, "Man, I'm drunk!" It's getting high without making an idiot of yourself, or having to choke down another beer to convince people you're having a good time.

What is a parent who gets his kid busted for doing drugs? Someone who would put his child in prison where he can associate with robbers and murderers and learn a better way of life.

I believe, as do many others, that persons who condone the use of liquor, the number one cause of crime and family troubles, and cigarettes which have been proved dangerous, shouldn't be the ones to say, "Don't mess with pot."

They should remove the beam from their own eye first. —A KNOWER

Dear Knewer:
Equal time and no argument it is. But how about a couple of comments?

I don't buy the idea that to enjoy life one must be either stoned or "drooling drunk." You know, marijuana has been around for some 2000 years. If it were all that great (and harmless) how come it never really got popular before the 1960s? —H.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "Pure Goldie," an NBC special Monday night, presented Goldie Hawn as an all-around variety performer—singer, dancer, comedienne and sketch actress. Goldie, an Oscar winner for a film role, gained television recognition as a bubble-headed blonde who giggled a lot on "Laugh-In."

Miss Hawn, it turns out, is a fine dancer and singer, and while the hour consisted of bits and pieces, she came off very well. She also had some solid help from Ruth Buzzi and Bob Dishy, Jim Henson's Muppets and some interesting special material.

Goldie and her two human costars had fun with a musical version of "War and Peace," a satire on Russian novelists and on the current fad of turning serious books into musicals. Another sketch took off on the increasing size of airplanes.

There was an amusing sketch with the puppets in which Goldie kissed Kermit the frog and turned into a Muppet herself.

Scattered through the hour were some colorful dance numbers. The whole set-up was a nice showcase for the young star. Her old "Laugh-In" character surfaced just enough to help the folks at home get oriented.

Earlier, a Bob Hope special seemed to have been slung together in a hurry. The program did reunite Hope with Bing Crosby. The old "Road" comrades insulted each other in familiar style for a few minutes, with Bing giving every appearance of breaking up at the jokes on the cue cards. Then, a longish sketch about an inept burglar—Hope—waking up a noisy little girl, Jo Anne Worley, never got anywhere. Petula Clark sang prettily. Teresa Graves wriggled her way through a number and there was a lot of talk about golf.

Hope specials tend to run a bumpy course, but this one seemed more ragged than usual.

A mystery of the season is why NBC dropped a dull daytime guessing game called "Words and Music" for one even duller called "Joe Garagiola's Memory Game."

This one, with its premiere Monday, is not only a bore but hard to follow. Joe, an ex-baseball catcher, has to supply questions and answers for studio contestants—obviously hard work.

His old game show, "He Said, She Said," was much brighter. It had been supplied to stations with a built-in sponsor, but came to an untimely end when the sponsor pulled out and balked at buying something they had previously received free.

Local Girls in Win Over Lewisville

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

Showing superior strength in the first round of the senior girls district tournament at DeQueen last night, the Hope Ladycats speared the Lewisville Red Devils, 75-41.

This victory raises the Ladies record to 11-9 for the season and they again journey to DeQueen, Wednesday night, for a seven o'clock game with the Stamps senior girls.

Reducing bad passes, the guards and forwards consistently worked the ball up and down the court, making the rebounds and points count.

Working the ball inside after the tipoff, the Ladycats scored first on a layup by Dee Singleton, with 6:47 left in the period. Then, although four straight points by the Red Devils gave them a temporary lead, the score was again tied after Singleton's second two pointer.

As the lead changed hands for the next two minutes, the Ladycats then starting putting it all together. Baskets by Singleton and Betty Rodden gave Hope a 12-9 margin, and that was all she wrote.

With the starting forwards all combining for a total of nine points to Lewisville's four, the Ladycats took a 21-13 lead into the second quarter.

Again Hope received the tipoff, this time with Janet McCain popping in the two points. Moving along at an even clip, the Ladycats held a 34-19 margin with 3:01 left in the half, after consecutive field goals by Singleton and Belinda East.

Six straight points by Singleton ended the quarter, and at half-time, the Hope Ladies led, 40-21, with a lot more action due the second half.

Opening the third stanza, East hit two points and three straight goals by McCain pushed Hope's lead up to 48-21. Eight quick points by Singleton within a minute, before she left the game for the subs with 2:56 left in the third period, gave the Ladycats a 56-22 lead.

Five more points gave Hope a 61-26 margin, entering the last period.

With Betty Rodden trading various field goals with Patricia Powell, Hope kept piling up the points, and after Ladycat Carol Hobson popped in a 15 foot shot with 2:42 left, Hope held a 70-33 score.

Rodden and Bonnie Willis then finished out the scoring, as the Ladycats won their first district game and now advance on.

Singleton led all scorers with 32 points, followed by Rodden with 17, McCain hitting 15, East sinking six, Willis getting three, and Hobson popping in two.

Doing a beautiful job on defense were guards Cindy Hollis, Sandra Hamilton, Judy Reyenga, Sharon Brown, Janice Hobson, and Betty Ruth Honeycutt. All night they consistently moved the ball to the forwards, at times tying it up, stealing it, or grabbing the rebounds.

Tonight the Kittens travel to Magnolia for their district tourney.

Alcindor Continues to Set Pace

NEW YORK (AP) — With five weeks remaining in the regular National Basketball Association season, Lew Alcindor of the Milwaukee Bucks continues to set the scoring pace—something he has done since the start of the campaign.

Northside Rated Tops in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Fort Smith Northside continues to roll along atop The Associated Press high school basketball poll.

The Grizzlies beat Little Rock Central and North Little Rock Northeast last week, pushing their record to 18-1. They drew seven of the 14 first place votes by a panel of sportswriters and broadcasters.

Little Rock Horace Mann beat Northeast and North Little Rock and moved from third to second. Hot Springs, second last week, won twice but came up two points shy of Horace Mann.

Tuckerman, the only unbeaten high school team in the state, remained fourth.

Harrison, seventh last week, jumped to fifth this week. Despite two victories, Cave City slipped a notch to sixth. Blytheville, rated eighth last week, moved up to seventh after winning twice. North Little Rock slipped from sixth to eighth after losing to Mann.

Stamps, which did not play last week, remained ninth. Jonesboro beat nearby Westside 83-72 last week and replaced Westside in the No. 10 spot.

Here are the results of the poll with first place votes and team records in parentheses and total points at right:

1. FS Northside (7) (18-1) 129
2. Horace Mann (1) (19-1) 120
3. Hot Springs (4) (19-1) 118
4. Tuckerman (1) (30-0) 97
5. Harrison (26-2) 74
6. Cave City (29-1) 62
7. Blytheville (1) (23-3) 54
8. North Little Rock (15-5) 35
9. Stamps (22-1) 24
10. Jonesboro (16-7) 14

Others receiving votes, listed alphabetically: Alhelfer, Fayetteville, Gould, Helena, LR McClellan, Pine Bluff, Rogers, Stephens, Subiaco, Valley Springs, Westside and White Hall.

SWC Stretch Drive Gets Underway

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Southwest Conference unfolds its basketball stretch drive tonight with Texas Christian firmly in the saddle as the only club with four of its last six games at home.

TCU hosts the luckless Arkansas Razorbacks tonight in Fort Worth.

"It's disappointing we didn't win those last two road games, but it's not discouraging," said Coach Johnny Swalm of the Horned Frogs, who were beaten twice last week. "Who would have thought we'd come out of this with a one-game lead?"

Texas Tech, Baylor, Rice and Southern Methodist are in hot pursuit of the Frogs. While TCU owns a 6-2 record, the other four clubs are 5-3.

Tonight, Baylor is at Rice, Texas A&M is at SMU and Texas Tech is at Texas.

Although the loop records aren't outstanding, there's an outside chance of the runnerup team getting a bid to the NIT this year in Madison Square Garden. The SWC no longer has the rule forbidding such outside activity.

Slaughter Returning to Baseball

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — After ten years of involuntary retirement, major league veteran Enos Slaughter is returning to baseball.

Slaughter, a Roxboro, N.C. native, was named Monday to be head baseball coach of Duke University. The announcement was made at a news conference Monday by Duke Athletic Director Eddie Cameron.

Run and Fun Games for Big Men

By TOM EMORY

Associated Press Sports Writer
It was fun and games time for two of college basketball's big men Monday night and their teams' victories proved it. But for Kansas, it was a nailbiter down to the last 23 seconds.

Jacksonville's 7-foot-2 Artis Gilmore hit 22 points and had 25 rebounds as the Dolphins defeated Florida State 100-75; and 7-foot Jim McDaniels scored 26 points and grabbed 25 rebounds in Western Kentucky's 83-65 victory over East Tennessee.

Perhaps the teams were relaxed since neither has to face the pressure of being in the top five schools in the latest Associated Press poll. Jacksonville retained its No. 6 slot and the Hilltoppers fell from No. 7 to ninth.

Kansas, however, is the No. 5 team and had to scrap to save a 71-68 decision from Oklahoma. The Jayhawks held the fifth spot and added two victories last week but the Sooners put on a tough performance in the first half tying the game 11 times.

The Jayhawks trailed 35-33 at halftime, gained the lead at 52-50, then held on for life, victory and their elevated spot in the poll. With 23 seconds remaining, Pierre Russell hit two foul shots to give the winners a 71-66 advantage.

The top four teams in the poll were idle. UCLA retained its No. 1 position, and Marquette, Southern California and Pennsylvania followed in the identical order as last week. The Bruins pulled 15 of 31 first-place votes with Marquette 14, USC and Kansas, 1 each.

South Carolina and North Carolina each jumped three places to seventh and eighth, respectively, while Duquesne advanced to No. 10 from position 12.

In other action among the Top 20 teams, Kentucky, which dropped from No. 8 to 12th place, defeated Georgia 107-95; Tennessee, up from 14 to 13, was upset by Florida 56-55; Notre Dame's Irish, bounced from ninth place to 14th, walloped Valparaiso 100-75; No. 15 Utah State was stunned by Denver 96-74; and Eastern Kentucky edged No. 17 Murray State 82-81.

Florida State staged a late rally against Jacksonville after trailing 48-37 at the half. The Seminoles closed to within 74-73 before Gilmore hit two field goals and two free throws with five minutes left to play.

It was Gilmore's clutch baskets and rebounds that saved the Dolphins but it was junior guard Harold Fox's 16 points in the first half that gave the winners the 11-point halftime advantage. Fox was leading scorer with 25 points.

McDaniels was Western Kentucky's one-man show against East Tennessee. He was held to just seven points in the first half but came back for his team's first 17 points in the second half.

The Hilltoppers slapped it on early running up a 47-19 halftime score, including holding the Buccaneers without a field goal for nine minutes of the first half.

Other college scores included Louisiana State over Auburn 114-94; Alabama defeating Vanderbilt 75-74; Missouri topping Iowa State 80-66; Fairleigh Dickinson beating Army 57-42; Louisiana State-New Orleans over Louisiana College 84-74; and Northeast Louisiana upsetting Southwestern Louisiana 100-98.

The Top Twenty teams with first-place votes in parentheses and total points awarded on a 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8 etc. basis:

1. UCLA (15) 570
2. Marquette (14) 560
3. So. California (1) 494

No Comment on Oaklawn Drug Charge

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — J. Sweeney Grant, general manager of Oaklawn Park, declined comment Monday on allegations by David Morton that some thoroughbreds were drugged here.

Morton, head of Morton Consultants Inc. of Little Rock, made the statement Monday in a news conference at his firm's offices.

Grant referred newsmen to Guy Newcomb of Osceola, chairman of the state Racing Commission, which, Grant said, has complete charge of handling drug tests at the track.

Newcomb could not be reached for comment.

Last week, however, Newcomb said he personally slugged six urine samples from dogs raced at Southland Greyhound Park in West Memphis and the Morton firm did not discover the drugs.

Morton conducted tests on Southland dogs and Oaklawn Park horses in parts of 1969 and 1970. A Memphis firm now has the contract for the tests.

"Suspicious traces of chemicals" were found in 1970 in 135 winning thoroughbreds by his firm, Morton said. No action was taken. Morton said no court action was instituted because his firm could not determine whether the drugs had been administered within the period in which drugs are barred by regulations.

Colts' Coach Irked by Criticism

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Mike Curtis, middle linebacker of the Baltimore Colts, indicated Monday night critical remarks made about his team's Super Bowl victory last month rubbed him the wrong way.

The Colts "didn't crush or run over people" as they won the American Football Conference title and then the big prize, Curtis said, "but we were consistent."

"We beat teams when we had to beat them."

Curtis spoke at the annual awards banquet of the Kansas City Chiefs' Committee of 101 which honored him as AFC defensive player of the year.

Others receiving awards were quarterback John Brodie of the San Francisco 49ers, selected by sportswriters and broadcasters as the NFC offensive player of the year; tackle Alan Page of the Minnesota Vikings, NFC defensive player of the year; quarterback George Blanda of the Oakland Raiders, AFC offensive player of the year; linebacker Chuck Howley of the Dallas Cowboys, most valuable player of the Super Bowl; Coach Dick Nolan of the 49ers, NFC coach of the year and Paul Brown of the Cincinnati Bengals, top vote-getter among AFC coaches.

Blanda, Brown and Howley did not attend the dinner.

Exhilarating Heads Field at Oaklawn

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Exhilarating heads a field of 12 for today's $7,500 feature race at Oaklawn Park.

Trained by Bob Holthux, Exhilarating will carry top weight of 121 pounds in the 5 1/2-furlong test for 3 and 4-year-old fillies.

Others entered are Wa Wa Gale at 103 pounds, Lapel Dutches at 111, Young's Lass 115, Big Beaut 115, Diddy Quick 111, Fender 115, Purple Power 111, Buckeye 118, Oh You Cutie 110, Somegoer 101, Toddy Lou 105.

Also eligible is Ashtola, who will carry 111 pounds if she makes the field.

In Monday's feature, a record Monday crowd of 13,305 saw Dora Ann, a 4-year-old filly, capture the $10,000 Washington's Birthday purse.

Dora Ann covered the 5 1/2 furlongs in the good time of 1:11 3-5, winning by a half-length over Shee Clachan. Dora Ann paid $12.80, $6 and $3.80. Shee Clachan paid $6.80 and $4.20. Margalo paid $3.20 for show.

Unsigned Players Are Headaches

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Pitcher Bill Zepp wants to be traded and infielder Larry Brown is sure he's going to be traded. Both are among a healthy number of unsigned major leaguers who could give baseball general managers a few headaches over the next few weeks.

Zepp, who was born in Detroit, and still lives there, has a problem because he works for Minnesota. He would prefer, of course, to work for Detroit and has suggested as much to both the Twins and Tigers. So far, however, no deal. And Zepp says unless the Tigers and Twins can get together on one, he won't play baseball this summer.

Some of the other holdouts don't come on quite that strongly but they make no secret of their unhappiness with the contract terms the GMs have been offering.

Brown, Cleveland's veteran infielder, wants $34,000—$5,000 more than the Indians are offering. "I'm sure they'll trade me," said Brown, "after all that has happened. All I can do in the meantime is sit and wait."

The Indians also have major problems with pitchers Sam McDowell and Dennis Higgins, outfielder Vada Pinson and catcher Ray Fosse.

McDowell wants $100,000. "I don't want to talk about it much now," he said, "but it sure looks like I'm going to be late. It's up to the club. I'm very anxious to get to Tucson and get ready but I absolutely won't go until the day I sign."

Higgins, resisting a cut from $30,000 after a 4-6 season, said he was offered $15,000 as a sporting goods representative, "and I'll take it before I'll let the Indians cut my pay."

In Baltimore, Dave McNally and Boog Powell, are among the unsigned. McNally, always a tough bargainer, could be shooting for $100,000 after his third straight 20-victory season. Powell's Most Valuable Player Award could earn him close to that amount too.

National League MVP Johnny Bench has been talking about a $500,000 three-year contract but he isn't the only problem the Reds face. Pete Rose is reportedly asking $250,000 for two years and Tony Perez thinks $110,000 sounds very nice. Bobby Tolan, out indefinitely with a torn achilles tendon, says he wants no part of a provisional contract based on how much he can play in 1971, which the Reds have offered him.

Outfielder Billy Williams and pitcher Fergie Jenkins both have let the Chicago Cubs know they'd like to see six figures on their '71 contracts. Jenkins has hired a lawyer to help him with negotiations.

Tony Oliva of the Twins also wants $100,000—about $30,000 more than he earned last year. "I had my best year in 1970," argues Oliva, who turned down Cal Griffith's first offer, "and I think Mr. Griffith should recognize it in my contract."

Boston's Carl Yastrzemski heads a host of unsigned Red Sox players but General Manager Dick O'Connell says "we expect no signing problems." Other Boston players still not signed include Rico Petrocelli, Reggie Smith and Billy Conigliaro.

Yaz says when he signs he'll be baseball's highest paid player. Johnny Bench was unavailable for a comment on that piece of information.

Athlete Trains on Pizza and Spaghetti

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Cal Martin, hoping to become one of his sport's highest paid athletes, trains hard by eating great mounds of spaghetti and lots of pizza each day.

"Most of the others I train with drink beer by the gallon, said the 21-year-old Martin. "I don't like beer so I drink Hawaiian punch."

At 5-feet-10 inches tall and 275 pounds, sporting long, long hair, Cal Martin is ideally built for his sport, in which he's making great strides. His long hair is almost a necessity, too.

What sport requires such physical dimensions, such training methods, such a hair style? Sumo wrestling, of course, and Cal Martin is Japan's only Caucasian participating in the 2,000-year-old activity.

"I guess you could say it's sort of like playing football in the nude," says Martin, a former high school football player who put on 70 pounds with his starchy diet in order to become a sumo wrestler.

"In Japan, a sumo wrestler is almost a god. He's bigger there than Johnny Unitas or Brooks Robinson are here," he said.

He first came into contact with the sport while with his father, who was on a business trip in Japan. "I found I was pretty good at it, an instructor persuaded me to join his stable of wrestlers and I've been at it ever since."

"In sumo, anything goes but a punch," Martin explained. "The only part of the body that can touch the floor is the soles of your feet. The object is to knock the other guy off balance and to the floor. The bout ends when any part of the body except the foot touches the floor."

Martin got $10 for his first sumo tournament two years ago but $600 for his most recent one. He hopes to make $1,000 a tournament — plus television endorsement fees — in the near future.

Along with all the eating, Martin and the other sumo wrestlers train hard. Workouts begin at 5:30 a.m. and go for six hours straight.

Then there are strength drills and a sumo version of "king of the hill" with the winning wrestler taking on a challenger.

His football background has given Martin experience the others don't get and Martin's forearm shivers—a sumo technique—have caused lesser sumo wrestlers broken jaws and limbs and loosened teeth.

"I haven't learned a lot of the moves yet, but my shiver is doing okay," he says.

Anyone for Pizza and spaghetti?

Rocket Reserve Relaxes After Playing Hard

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A guy who plays hard likes to relax afterwards," says Toby Kimball, a reserve forward of the San Diego Rockets.

The National Basketball League squad can do that now—on chairs that cost $28.50 each. They are individual contour chairs, portable and with cushioned theater-type pads for the weary bottom.

Les Land, manager of the International Sports Arena, talked with the San Diego players before replacing the conventional slab bench with the chairs.

A few of the comments about other NBA benches San Diego players find on road trips:

—Philadelphia, "Too low."

—Boston, "too close to the stands."

—Chicago, "too cold."

—Los Angeles, "too small."

After Land installed the new seats, a spokesman for the Rockets commented lavishly about the improvement:

"It's got dependability, width, strength, size and youth. Everything you'd demand of a bench. We've got one of the most expensive benches in pro basketball."

One of the reserves said for once he doesn't mind being sidelined.

State Upset by Southeast Missouri

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. (AP) — Southeast Missouri upset Arkansas State 97-88 in non-conference basketball here Monday night.

Southeast Missouri, a 116-77 victim of the Indians earlier this season, fought back from a 1-point halftime deficit and went on to hand ASU its eighth setback of the season.

Guard Jim Anderson, who scored only six points in the loss to ASU, pumped in 35 in Southeast's victory Monday night. Center John Belcher had 28 and guard Allan Pruett had 22 for ASU.

The home team utilized a zone offense and connected on more than 50 per cent of its field goal attempts.

The victory gave Southeast a 9-9 record. ASU is 12-8.

Mel Rebounds to Record But Pacers Lose

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mel Daniels rebounded to a record but the Indiana Pacers came up short because of some last-minute bombing by John Beasley.

Beasley hit two three-point goals in the closing minutes as the Texas Chaparrals edged the Pacers 119-118 Monday night despite Daniels' 34 points and 22 rebounds which made him the first American Basketball Association player to hit the 5,000 mark in career rebounds.

In the only other ABA game, the New York Nets topped the Utah Stars 98-89. The Pittsburgh at Floridians game was postponed.

There was no action in the National Basketball Association. Beasley's second three-point shot, with 1:16 left, concluded the scoring and gave Texas its victory. Beasley finished with 29 points, one less than teammate Wayne Hightower.

Bill Paultz scored 25 points as the Nets snapped Utah's home-court winning string at 12 games. Glen Combs led Utah with 24.

New York's Rick Barry twisted his right knee early in the second half, but the injury was not believed to be serious.

The individual goaltending leader remains Toronto's Jacques Plante, who has given up 64 goals in 33 games, a 1.99 average. Tony Esposito is the shutout leader with five—one more than Giacomini and Villeneuve with four apiece.

Merger Means Strength in Numbers

By DENNE H. FREEMAN

Bobby Bragan, pausing in mid-sentence to adjust the cigar in his mouth so he could be heard better, says the Texas and Southern leagues formed the Dixie Baseball Association because "There's strength in numbers no matter what you do."

"You could look up tomorrow and not even have a league," says Bragan, the president of the Texas League. "Dallas-Fort Worth could go major. Albuquerque could go to Triple-A. You could get down to four teams in a hurry."

Bragan was asked if the merger was a one-year deal. "I think it might be permanent because of the structure of baseball," Bragan says. "We didn't out of necessity. We couldn't schedule seven clubby in each league because you would have an off date all the time. You can schedule 14 teams."

Bragan will remain as president of the TL while Sam Smith stays as prexy of the Southern Association.

In fact, the two leagues will play separate All-Star games. Atlanta of the National League will meet the Southern All-Stars July 8th in Birmingham while the San Diego Padres of the NL will play the TL All-Stars Aug. 9 in Albuquerque. The leagues also will keep separate averages.

The 142-game schedule will be climaxed with a Dixie Series which will include the champions of the Eastern, Central and Western Divisions and a "wild card" team which has the best percentage other than the divisional winners.

Bragan says contrary to popular thought "I don't think minor league baseball is dying. As long as you have the majors, there will be the minors. College ball is better than ever before but they still just play 25 to 30 games—not enough to mold a boy for pro ball."

He says he doesn't believe baseball needs any radical changes.

"Go to a ball game at Turnpike Stadium or in Albuquerque where the facilities are attractive," Bragan says. "Give a man an attractive place where he can take his wife and child on an outing where the concessions are nice and clean and the parking is safe and you don't need anything else. But if the parking is run down and you're in an old bad location then you have a problem."

"And the same thing applies on the major league level. A place like the Astrodome will draw even if the team isn't attractive."

James Hylton Takes Slim Racing Lead

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) —James Hylton, twice runner-up in the NASCAR Grand National point battles, has taken a slim lead in the standings following Sunday's Daytona 500.

Hylton, of Inman, S. C., leads defending driver champion Bobby Isaac by three points in this year's chase for the Winston Cup. Hylton has 307 points to Isaac's 304.

Just two days before the 500, Ford driver Hylton announced his plans to run the entire season for the championship with four cars.

Third in the standings is Daytona 500 winner Richard Petty with 291. The 500 victory was Petty's third and the 120th of his career.

Bobby Allison of Hueytown, Ala., is fourth with 273 points followed by Cecil Gordon of Arden, N.C., with 266.

In the manufacturers standings Dodge has taken a slim lead with 21 points. Mercury and Plymouth are tied with 19 apiece while Ford has six and Chevrolet one.

Sen. Jordan Doing Fine After Surgery

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Sen. B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., was "wide awake, alert and resting very well" Monday night following surgery for removal of a malignant tumor from his colon, doctors said.

Doctors removed a portion of the large intestine during the 3½-hour operation Monday at Duke University Medical Center. The surgeons said they found nothing to indicate that the malignant had spread.

Jordan, 74, entered Duke Hospital Thursday for a physical examination in preparation for a 1972 re-election bid. The length of his stay at the hospital is uncertain, hospital officials said.

Den 1, Pack 92, Cub Scouts of America, accompanied by Den Mothers Mrs. Albert Patton and Mrs. John Holt, visited the Hope Star last week.

Grandpa Rocket Is a Hockey Super Star

NEW YORK (AP) — He shows a bit of gray around the temples and a few more pounds around the middle—but when Maurice Richard really wants to make you feel old, he reminds you that he's a grandfather.

Grandpa Rocket, hockey's first superstar, is a Montreal oil company executive now and looks as comfortable in a gray flannel suit as he did in the red, white and blue uniform that he wore with the Montreal Canadiens for 18 years.

Richard was hockey's all-time goal scoring champ with 544 regular-season scores when he retired in 1960. Since then, Detroit's Gordie Howe and Bobby Hull of Chicago have both passed him. Howe has 782 now and Hull, who scored two goals Sunday night to pass the Rocket, has 546.

"It makes me feel funny seeing them pass the record," said Richard. "But I don't really feel bad about it. You know, it's not the record anymore."

Richard accumulated his total in 978 games and he always pointed out that Howe needed 1,132 games to pass it. Hull took 937 games—a fact that apparently impressed Richard.

"I think he can reach Howe's total before he's through," the Rocket said. "The way they're scoring today, Hull can do it."

Richard resists the urge to put down modern hockey compared to the game that he played in the 1940s and 50s. "But I'll tell you one thing. There could never be a 100-point scorer 15 or 20 years ago. We only played 50 or 60 games a season. Now it's up to 78 games and there are more chances to score more points. It's easier today."

Phil Esposito recently passed the 100-point plateau for the second time in his career and is threatening his own single-season mark of 126 points. He is one of the players Richard believes could eventually pass the 544 mark.

"Jean Beliveau has 500 now and if he plays a couple of more years, he could do it. Esposito is a think. But I don't see anybody else around who might pass it," the Rocket said.

"The game is a lot faster today," Richard continued. "With the curved blade, everybody's shooting the puck from all over the ice. There's not as much good passing and fewer plays being made. I miss that."

Some Think Quakes Can Be Predicted

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The earthquake 'ha' struck the Los Angeles area last week has focused new interest on an old question: Can earthquakes be predicted?

Even the experts don't agree. Some say it's impossible. Other's say it's possible, but improbable. Still others say it's possible, but only with more money, equipment and research.

Dr. Charles F. Richter, who perfected the earthquake-measuring Richter scale, says of the tremors: "There is no way you can predict them."

Dr. Donald Anderson, head of the California Institute of Technology Seismology Laboratory, says that right now "we don't know how to forecast earthquakes," but predicts it may be possible someday.

Dr. William Van De Lindt, a geophysicist at the IBM science center here, says earthquake prediction is definitely possible, but hasn't been done before because "it's never had the spotlight on it."

There's no quarrel among them that right now, no one can predict when and where the next powerful earthquake—like the one that staggered Southern California on Tuesday—will strike.

By using data gathered from past quakes and field studies with sensitive measuring instruments they can say where an earthquake is likely. But not when.

Richter, a Caltech professor now retired, says people who make such precise predictions now are "charlatans, fakes or liars."

Anderson says that with funds, equipment and research "it would in my opinion be possible to forecast a quake in a given area within a week."

The main technical problem, he says, "is having enough instruments in strategic locations. In Southern California, there are only 30 (seismic) stations and they're about 12 miles apart. So there are large areas we aren't covering."

"It'd be nice if we had a grid covering the entire state, with the stations not less than six miles apart," he said, adding that this probably would require at least 10,000 seismometers. There are only about 300 in the entire state now, he said.

Although California is the most fertile ground for earthquake study—many of the nation's quakes occur here—research on the subject never has been funded by the state, he said.

One reason why we favor reasonably light opening bids is that all else being equal the side that opens the bidding has a distinct advantage.

The opening bidder seldom gets into trouble when his partner has a very bad hand. The man who acts against an opening bid may find himself in the meat grinder when he overcalls.

South was one of those players who just hated to open the bidding vulnerable. He liked to back in after passing and sure got his wish fulfilled today.

He wouldn't open with one club, but he did try two clubs after West's opening heart bid and East's spade response.

West doubled and South had no place to go except down. Actually, he played the hand rather well and managed to collect three trumps as well as his ace of spades, but somehow or other his partner was not impressed with losing 1100 points.

South wasn't upset at all. It couldn't happen to anyone, he pointed out and anyway East and West would have scored game and rubber so it wasn't a total loss.

South's remark that it could happen to anyone was not completely accurate. It couldn't happen to anyone who opened the South hand with one club. West would overcall and East and West might work their way up to three no-trump or they might stop at a part score, but the one thing sure is that they wouldn't collect 1100 points.

Of course, we don't claim a monopoly on opening the South hand. Most bidders would open it just as we would.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The lyre bird received its name because its tail resembles the ancient musical instrument, the lyre. The World Almanac says that only males have this characteristic plumage, which is displayed during courtship. The bird is native to Australia and appears on stamps and seals.

LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

Epileptics Now Save on Medicines

By LAWRENCE LAMB, M.D.

If you know anyone who has epilepsy, you can help them save money on their medical bills. There are over two million people with epilepsy in the United States and some authorities think as many as one out of 50 people have this problem. The cost of medicine for life is a major financial burden to the epileptic or his family.

The National Epilepsy League has set up a program to reduce the cost of medicine by running a self-supporting pharmacy. Patients can reduce the cost of their medicine by as much as 25 per cent. Here is how it works.

By servicing a large number of people the N.E.L. pharmacy can order medicine in large amounts at a cheaper rate. The savings are passed on to members who have joined the service.

That is not all. The pharmacy controls the quality of the medicines to make sure that all the medicines are fresh and of the highest professional quality.

Anyone with epilepsy can join the service for $1 a year and those interested should contact the N.E.L. Service, 222 N. Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Ill. 60601. Parents or guardians of a child with epilepsy can order for him.

Of course, the pharmacy fills prescriptions only from the patient's doctor. Like any other pharmacy the service does not offer advice on medications or epilepsy. That is up to the patient's doctor.

The medicine is mailed promptly in a plain wrapper. All mail and even money orders can simply be marked N.E.L. Service.

If you know of someone with epilepsy and don't want to talk to them about it, you can send their name and address to the N.E.L. Service and they will contact the person directly.

Anyone with epilepsy can join. All they need to do is send their name and address along with their doctor's prescription to the service. The N.E.L. Service will bill them later. The medicine must be paid for within 30 days.

It takes about two weeks to get medicine, so orders should be placed two weeks before the home medical supply runs out.

Now that is what I call a real constructive program and I hope it helps a lot of people. It is a nonprofit organization, but it isn't a charity. All the members pay for their service. The more people who utilize the service, the easier it will be to provide quality medicines at lower cost. We need a few more services like that for

Lessons in Elocution

LONDON (AP) — Irish laborer Dennis McLaughlin is giving Marlon Brando elocution lessons.

The actor is perfecting a lush brogue for his part in "The Nightcomer," his first film for two years.

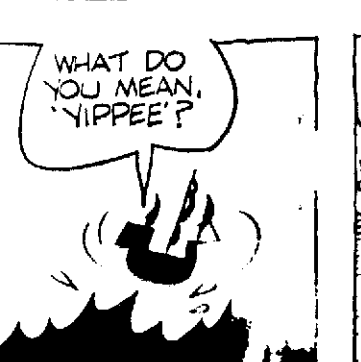

He asked McLaughlin, 36, to lay aside his pick and shovel and be his voice teacher after hearing the Irishman's County Cavan cadences in a pub in London's East End.

This time, the club had to pay substantial damages to the victim. The judge said it was not hard for the management to put up a fence — and not hard to foresee accidents if it didn't.

Page Eight Turks Release Airman, Five Are Sought

By NICK LUDINGTON
Associated Press Writer
ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — A Texas airman kidnaped and held 17 hours by suspected leftist extremists was undergoing questioning today by U.S. Air Force investigators while Turkish police hunted the kidnapers.

Sgt. Jimmy Ray Finley, 24, an air policeman from Fort Worth, Tex., walked back to his base Monday night, apparently none the worse for his experience.

He was "dead tired" but unharmed, American officials said.

The Air Force gave no details of what he reported. But speculation in Ankara was that the kidnaping might have been the work of a group of leftists wanted for two recent bank robberies in the city.

The five-man gang is led by former Istanbul University law student Deniz Gezmiş and has been at large since its first successful bank raid Jan. 11.

Officials would say only that Finley's abductors were believed to be leftist extremists, active for the past year in terrorist attacks against American servicemen and their families.

Turkish police said at least three men took part in the kidnaping about 3 a.m. Monday at an American installation on the outskirts of Ankara.

The kidnapers entered the base apparently undetected and forced Finley into a truck while he was on guard duty. A few hours later the pickup truck was found empty and abandoned, its motor still running and with a flat tire 10 miles outside Ankara.

The kidnaping jolted the American community in Turkey.

"It's been building up to this," said a U.S. diplomat of the spreading wave of anti-American violence in Turkey. There have been bomb attacks against U.S. installations and Americans have been roughed up, insulted and threatened.

"We had our fingers crossed kidnaping wouldn't spread to Turkey, but here it is," said a security officer at the U.S. Embassy in Ankara. He said for more than a year special security measures have been taken to protect several thousand American civilians and servicemen in Ankara.

Turkish police have reinforced Turkish troops guarding U.S. installations. Americans are not allowed to carry weapons for guard duty. Turkish police also are stationed at the residence of the U.S. ambassador.

Anti-Americanism first appeared in 1964 when many Turks resented the lack of U.S. support in their dispute with Greece over Cyprus. It has intensified with the growth of extremism in Turkish universities in the past two years.

Factors observers consider responsible for the current anti-Americanism include the pres-

LAOS SUCCESS (From Page One)

Cabinet members and Republican congressional leaders out on the Lincoln Day speaking circuit, are telling President Nixon the American people generally favor the current U.S.-supported attack, in contrast to the uproar greeting the U.S. invasion of Cambodia last spring.

The reason, they claim, is that continued troop withdrawals and decreased U.S. casualty rates in the past nine months have proven the wisdom of the Cambodia operation and strengthened the President's credibility.

These officials, who decline to be quoted by name, reject the contention by some Senate war critics that opposition to the Laos attack is muted because of frustration from decisions sending allied forces into a new war front.

Within South Vietnam, the officials likewise see the current operation as having both a military and political impact.

The military goal is to cut off the chief Communist supply route, the Ho Chi Minh trail, until the rainy season in Laos starts in early May. This, they reason, will prevent the North Vietnamese from bringing in supplies for a major offensive in South Vietnam next fall or winter.

Such success would allow South Vietnam to hold a presidential election next fall without major Communist military pressure, probably strengthening President Nguyen Van Thieu against potential opponents.

In assessing domestic reaction to the Laotian operation, White House officials cite the general lack of protest demonstrations on college campuses and the kinds of questions administration spokesmen are encountering.

For example, they say, there are virtually no questions about broadened use of U.S. airpower throughout Indochina beyond limits President Nixon and Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird set last spring.

Part of the muted reaction, these sources agree, is attributable to the fact South Vietnamese, rather than American, troops are doing the fighting in Laos. This only backs up their contention, they add, that Vietnamization is working and South Vietnamese troops are able to take over the bulk of the fighting and let the Americans go home.

They concede claims of success in the Cambodian operation failed to help Republicans in November's congressional elections, but attribute this to predominance of local issues in off-year balloting and perhaps an insufficient sales effort by the administration.

ence of 30,000 Americans in Turkey, with their special privileges and PX prosperity; the spread of leftist ideas after the military revolution in 1960 and liberal constitution of 1961, and a propaganda campaign by the Soviet Union to exploit anti-Americanism.

Blacks, Whites Seek to Patch Up School

By TOMMY YATES
Associated Press Writer
PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Several hundred white and black parents of the newly desegregated Coleman school area of the Watson Chapel School District are "trying to make the best of a bad situation" by working on weekends to spruce up the school's appearance.

Coleman was the all-black school in the district before a court-ordered total integration plan was implemented in the district last Thursday. Coleman now houses grades five through eight and has 710 white pupils and 617 Negro pupils. There have been several walkouts by white pupils at Watson Chapel High School, the former all-white school in the district, and in neighboring schools in sympathy protests to the court-ordered plan.

There has been no major incident in the district since total integration was implemented in the district.

Girl Scout Troop 297 met recently. This meeting was used to study about the conservation practices that may be used at home. They also made a litter bag for the family car. This particular step will be applied to the 10th Anniversary Patch Junior Requirement that has been set up by Confer Girl Scout Council.

This is one of 7 steps the girls have to complete to receive the

Alaska Oil Line Hearings Are Started

By JOHN H. KAMPS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government is opening hearings on plans for an 800-mile pipeline to tap the rich oil fields on Alaska's North Slope, a project fought by natives and environmentalists.

The Interior Department scheduled hearings today and Wednesday on an application by Alyeska Pipeline Service Co. to construct the 48-inch-diameter tube from the North Slope to the warm-water port of Valdez on the Gulf of Alaska.

A related hearing will be held Wednesday by the Senate Interior Committee on claims by 55,000 Eskimos, Aleuts and Indians to ancestral rights to much of Alaska's land.

Alyeska officials say the native land claims must be settled before construction can start.

The pipeline is blocked by two temporary federal court injunctions, one obtained by conservationists and the other by an Alaska native village in the pipeline's path.

The conservation group claims the pipeline, across federal land, would violate the government's environmental protection law. They claim friction of the rushing oil could melt the frozen ground, buckle the pipeline and flood the land with oil.

In addition, the group contends, the proposed pipeline would disrupt migration of Alaskan animals and destroy the native life style, they say.

The injunction granted the native village is tied in with claims before the Interior Committee.

Official subject of the committee hearing is a bill by Chairman Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., and other senators including Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, and Mike Gravel, D-Alaska. The measure passed the Senate but not the House last session.

It calls for federal payment of $500 million to Alaska natives for land they claim. In addition, the bill would provide up to $500 million in royalties for minerals and oil found on the land and give the natives clear title to 10 million acres of land.

Testimony also is expected on bills proposed by Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., and by Reps. Wayne N. Aspinall, D-Colo., and James Haley, D-Fla. Kennedy and Harris plan to introduce a bill they say is backed by the Alaska Federation of Natives. It would give the natives 60 million acres of land plus the cash and royalties of the Jackson bill.

The bill sponsored by Haley and Aspinall would give the natives title to three times the acres occupied by their villages and permission to hunt, fish and trap on an additional 40 million acres. It also would provide $500 million in federal payments plus $500 million from mineral and oil royalties—half of which would come from the state's share of production revenues.

Present law gives the state 90 per cent of mineral royalties from public lands in Alaska.

Democratic Proposals Partisan

By BILL SIMMONS
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The General Assembly is entertaining some proposals that likely would have stirred partisan controversy if organized Republican protest had survived the November elections.

Since Winthrop Rockefeller's loss Nov. 3 in the governor's race to Dale Bumpers, protests by the GOP have almost dissolved from the political arena.

Had the organized opposition not retrenched, however, some of the following likely would have been targets of their barbs:

—A resolution by Sen. Oscar Alagood of Little Rock considered by some as the groundwork for a purge of Republicans from state boards and commissions.

—A bill by Sen. Morrell Gathright of Pine Bluff to permit persons to list their party affiliation and to require party affiliation registration by candidates.

—A bill by Rep. George Davis of Horatio to make crossover voting a felony.

—A bill by Rep. John E. Miller of Melbourne to require that all political expenditure reports, at the primary and general election levels, be public record.

There has been only faint criticism of any of the proposals.

Sen. Jim Caldwell of Rogers, lone Senate Republican, said he agreed that cross-over voting should be illegal, but he attempted to amend Davis' bill to provide that cross-over voting would be a misdemeanor, which would carry a lesser penalty than a felony.

The Senate rejected Caldwell's amendment and approved Davis' bill Feb. 2.

The bill would prohibit voting in one party's preferential primary and then voting in another party's general primary. Voting in two different preferential primaries already is outlawed.

Democrats, with the larger and looser organization, had been concerned during Rockefeller's rule of the Republican party that the smaller, tighter GOP organization could sway the outcome of a Democratic primary through bloc voting for a particular Democratic hopeful.

Tuesday, February 16, 1971

Alagood's resolution simply calls attention to a state law and asks the state Administration Department to determine how well that law has been obeyed.

The law stipulates that any member of a state board or commission cannot miss three consecutive regular meetings and still remain on the board, unless one of the absences was due to illness, verified by a physician's sworn statement.

Another section, however, says that if a member misses two consecutive meetings, he must provide an excuse satisfactory to the governor or the chief executive can remove that member from the board or commission.

The report by the Administration Department is due to be made by March 1. The Senate approved the resolution Feb. 4.

Gathright's bill would permit but not require the listing of party affiliation by most voters, but affiliation would be a requirement not only for candidates but also anyone who served as a poll official or any party.

Miller's bill is in line with Democratic party policy in last year's elections.

While Republican party officials declined to make public primary election expenditure reports of GOP candidates, the Democrats made public the Democratic candidates' reports for the primaries.

The law already provides that general election reports be public. Miller's bill would require Republicans to follow the policy favored by their foes, the Democrats. The bill was passed Jan. 29 and signed by Bumpers Feb. 4.
